The exhibition in Brussels, Belgium will open this week: "Generations of Resilience" — 22 Ukrainian photographers.

The exhibition shows the challenges faced by several generations of Ukrainian photographers, from Kharkiv School of Photography to contemporary artists and young authors.

The history of Ukraine is a struggle for the future, which continues through generations. Here photography and art become one of the main methods to record and archive changes and one of the ways to fight in the war and resist colonial policy.
